TEXT

Dreamily over the roofs
 The cold spring rain is falling,
Out in the lonely tree
 A bird is calling, calling.

Slowly over the earth
 The wings of night are falling;
My heart like the bird in the tree
 Is calling, calling, calling.

Duration: ca. 3.5 minutes

PROGRAM NOTE

“The Lonely Bird” is a piece based on the poem “Twilight” by Pulitzer Prize-winning American poet Sara Teasdale. It symbolizes the feeling of loneliness through the falling spring rain and the repetitious calling of a lonely bird. Through my music, I tried to show the duality of the intense emotion behind the heart’s calling through changing tonality, but also the stagnation of loneliness in the falling rain by staying within a confined tonal space.
